Making everybody Safe from Harm

“Scouting should provide a safe environment for every Scout”; Luc Panissod, Secretary general of the World Organization of the Scout Movement (WOSM), is convinced. The Safe from Harm program being conducted as part of this Jamboree is but one small part in securing this, and Monday featured a large conference on the issue of child protection here at the Jamboree site.

article by Andreas Wenning
photos by Christoffer Munkestam

As one part of the Safe from Harm program, all adults attending the Jamboree completed an on line course before arrival. The course is about preventing abuse, how to spot it and how to react if you spot it. “It has been going really, really well and 98 percent of the adults had taken the course before arriving”, says Lasse Karlsson one of the Camp Chiefs. “It makes a difference during the camp, as it is on top of everyone’s mind,” he says.

The conference covered this topic with attendees from 70 countries, many of them Scouts but also some from other organizations. “As a strong organization, Scouts have a responsibility not only to talk about this among ourselves, but also to talk in the community.”, says Helene Gestrin, Chairman of The Swedish Guide and Scout Council.

When the Convention on the Rights of the Child became effective in 1990, it was only a few months later that WOSM called for action from all the Scout associations around the world. Also today “Scouts should lead the way for other organizations and civil society,” says Luc Panissod.

“When we as Scouts accept young people into the organization, we are making a pledge to them to develop their strength and personality, but we also promise to keep them safe”, Gestrin says. This also means to prevent any kind of abuse, this be bullying, physical abuse, emotional abuse, neglect or sexual abuse – not only within the Scout organizations, but also to spot and help fellow Scouts or other children who have been subject to abuse. Her Majesty Queen Silvia of Sweden was also present. She is the founder of the World Childhood Foundation and has a very deep interest in this topic, as you can read on the next page, where the Young Correspondents got to interview the Queen after the conference.

At the conference the Queen spoke about how hard it is to deal with and talk about abuse. “Often the abuse is by someone you trust, someone that your parents like or even admire,” she said. It is at first hard to understand that they have done something wrong to you. And even after realising this “it’s very hard to formulate the words that no one wants to hear”, she said.

This is important to remember as a Scout. You might already be a leader now, or may become in some years, and then “it is important to be a role model as a leader”, as Panissod said, but at the same time it is very important to remember, that the Scouts will put their trust in you.

You therefore need to listen and understand, when someone speaks up. You should also encourage others to speak up if being abused and show that you will take them serious. As Gestrin said as closing words of the conference: “When a child speaks up it has something interesting and important to say. Always listen.”

Everyone should take a Safe from Harm course and can encourage others to do the same; WOSM launched a new on line Safe from Harm course at the conference.

All in all 12 500 people from 150 different countries have taken the Safe from Harm course for this Jamboree. “This can make a huge difference after the camp if everyone remembers, that keeping children Safe from Harm is part of our job as Scouts, both in Scouting and in society”, as Lasse Karlsson, one of the Jamboree Camp Chiefs, says.

Safe from Harm course

WOSM has launched an on-line Safe from Harm course. Compared to the course from the Jamboree it focuses more on an “out of camp” context, and everyone, also those who have taken the course for the Jamboree, is encouraged to take it. It can be found on scout.org/safefromharm/

Stop the violence. Speak out for girls' rights

World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS) has recently launched a campaign focusing on stopping violence against girls and girls rights, and everyone both boys and girls are encouraged to join in on this effort on www.stoptheviolencecampaign.com

A l'abri de la maltraitance : un devoir pour tous

« Le scoutisme doit assurer à chaque scout un environnement protecteur », Luc Panissod, Secrétaire Général de l'Organisation Mondiale du Mouvement Scout (OMMS).

Le cours en ligne « Safe from Harm » (A l'abri de la maltraitance), élaboré à l'occasion de ce Jamboree, est une des mesures qui sécurisent ce camp. « La procédure a très bien fonctionné, 98% des adultes l'avaient suivie avant d'arriver au Jamboree » explique Lasse Karlsson, un des Chefs de camp. « C'est ce qui fait la différence, tout le monde l'a bien en mémoire et est attentif ».

Une importante conférence sur la question de la protection de l'enfance s'est tenue lundi, sur le site du Jamboree, avec des participants du monde entier, parmi lesquels Sa Majesté la Reine Silvia de Suède, présente pour évoquer le sujet.

L'OMMS a lancé sur Internet un nouveau programme « A l'abri de la maltraitance ». En plus des conseils du module créé pour le Jamboree, ce dernier se focalise davantage sur les aspects de la vie en dehors du camp. Tous les scouts, y compris ceux qui ont suivi le module du Jamboree, sont encouragés à suivre ce programme, accessible sur <http://scout.org/safefromharm>.

Preventing Children from Harm

Five Young Correspondents attended the “Safe from Harm” Conference for child protection hosted by Queen Silvia of Sweden on 1 August 2011 at the World Scout Jamboree. After the closing session with the presentation of the World Organisation of the Scout Movement (WOSM) new e-learning tool for adult leaders, they got to talk to the Queen about her work against child abuse. Here is part of their exclusive interview.

Your Majesty, how did Your Majesty become aware of the topic of child abuse?

“Many, many years ago, I was noticing there were cases of child abuse. I realized that nobody talked about it, so I started to do that. And the result was very shocking. I told everyone that it is as difficult for me to talk about it as for you to listen. But if we don’t do it, we can’t help the children. This was about 20 years ago. Today I am so happy to be here and to see that the whole day went well about How to save the children. The Scout movement is a fantastic movement, 38 million members all over the world. Everyone promised to talk about this issue now. I want to congratulate the Scout movement on that. ”

How did Your Majesty become involved in this conference today?

“As you know, His Majesty is very much involved in the Scout movement, so it was a pleasure for me to come here today. We have been discussing the Jamboree as an opportunity...to do something together, the World Childhood Foundation which I founded 12 years ago and the Scout movement. So we developed the conference.”

And how are Your Majesty involved in the Childhood Foundation? Have Your Majesty just founded it, or do you work with it?

“I am very much involved in it, I founded it about 12 years ago, and now we have foundations in Germany, the United States, in Brazil, and in Sweden. I am talking to the decision makers, I am talking to companies and I am talking to children. Mostly I am talking about the rights of the child. Most people aren’t aware that children have rights. Together with His Majesty we started with forums which we will have every other year, to spread the knowledge about children’s rights.”

Has Sweden thought about promoting “Safe from Harm” in schools?

“Yes, we do talk in the school system. But Scouts are so much closer. I just heard the information that there are 12.000 Scout leaders that took the training program on “Safe from Harm”. They are involved in it, and this is very special about the Scout movement that you are so close to the children and good role models. But of course in school we do speak generally about that issue, which of course is important.”

Making the Jamboree happen

When walking around at Four Seasons Square you've probably felt the Jamboree groove, people meeting and having a great experience together. Here you also find the main sponsors of the Jamboree. Here's a guide to some of them!

article by Emma Ekelund Trelde
photos by Malin Duveblad, Malin Serner

All the company exhibitions you've seen set up in the Main Square are sponsors to this Jamboree. They have been an important part in the planning and building, and due to that we wanted to give them a chance to experience a Jamboree firsthand. Three of the main partners, the Municipality of Kristianstad, Region Skåne and Sparbanken 1826 even took part in the Swedish Guide and Scout Council's campaign to win the Jamboree.

Hej Jam! talked to Cecilia Elving, Director of Corporate Relations, who has been working with fundraising and corporate relations for more than two years together with the Procurement and Sponsorship section. "The partners we have chosen are companies that share similar values to Scouting and have a real interest in supporting a good cause" says Cecilia.

If you're at Four Seasons Square – take the opportunity to try out some of the cool activities in the sponsorship exhibitions. Go to ICA and try dry surfing on top of a bluish, hurly wave look-alike! Or borrow a bike from E.ON which are driven by electricity and take a leisurly ride around the camp. If you're still thirsty for more then go to Arla and jump around in their jumping castle or taste their ecological milk and use the capsule as a marker when you try your luck at the wheel of fortune!

Inside the Jamboree shop you've probably noticed a corner filled with clothing and outdoor equipment from the sporting company Intersport. At their exhibition you can participate in a race where you are supposed to build up a tent as quickly as possible!

Sparbanken 1826 is the place for you to visit if you would like to buy an ice cream but are stuck with only foreign money in your pockets. Sparbanken 1826 is running the Jamboree bank where you can change your money into Swedish kronors, load your Event Card or use the ATM on the outside to withdraw money from your account!

We are really fortunate to have all of our sponsors onsite! Without them, the Jamboree experience definitely wouldn't have been this great!

Ils soutiennent le Jamboree

Sur la place des Quatre Saisons, tu trouveras les sponsors principaux du Jamboree. Ils proposent tous de tester des activités diverses : surf, vélo, saut, course... Tu trouveras également la boutique du Jamboree des produits de certains sponsors, où tu fais des courses grâce à l'argent que tu peux changer à la banque partenaire du camp.

« Les entreprises que nous avons choisies partagent les mêmes valeurs que celles du scoutisme. Elles ont un réel intérêt à soutenir une bonne cause » raconte Cecilia Elving, Directrice des Relations Publiques.

The IST Experience

29,000 Scouts have traveled from all around the world for an amazing Jamboree experience, but what about the International Service Team (IST)? With up to 10,000 international volunteers helping to run the Jamboree, Spring Town (Adult Town) offers a range of activities ensuring that every-one on site has an opportunity for an amazing Jamboree experience.

article by Megan Donoghue
photos by André Jörg and Magnus Fröderberg

At the Spring Information Centre IST members of all ages and all cultures are scrambling for pens. Looking for an opportunity to break up their work day, everyone is in a hurry to sign up for the IST experience before all of the activities completely fill up! Karina, Dawn and Coco from Hong Kong put their name down for an 'Unaided Dance for Life' session, while Floraine from Switzerland manages to join a spiritual experience. As names and reservations for experiences are coming in hard and fast 'IST experience' trainers are been wondering if it is possible to run a program for 7,000 participants with only 100 people! While they don't exactly know, they sure are going to try!

La experiencia EIS (IST)

29.000 scouts han viajado de todas partes del mundo para vivir una experiencia Jamboree increíble, pero ¿qué pasa con los miembros del Equipo Internacional de Servicio (EIS)? Con hasta 10.000 voluntarios de todo el mundo ayudando a que el Jamboree funcione, el pueblo de Spring (Pueblo de los adultos) les ofrece una gran variedad de actividades para asegurar que todos los presentes en el campamento tengan la oportunidad de vivir una experiencia Jamboree increíble.

La experiencia EIS trata de mejorar la experiencia Jamboree para aquellos que voluntariamente dedican su tiempo a que funcione. Es un programa educativo, interesante y desafiante basado en cuatro temas: Nuestro Mundo, Desarrollo Personal, Experiencia Espiritual y Nuevas habilidades, mediante los diferentes módulos ofrecidos dentro de cada tema. La experiencia ha sido tan popular que ¡la inscripción a los temas y módulos se debe hacer con dos días de antelación!

Los EIS que completen dos módulos con diferente tema conseguirán la insignia con un emblema de plata, o un emblema de oro si completan tres... ¡no te pierdas esta experiencia EIS increíble!

L' Experience EIS

29.000 scouts ont fait le voyage depuis les quatre coins du monde pour vivre ce formidable Jamboree, mais n'oublions pas les Équipes Internationales de Service (EIS) ! Avec près de 10.000 bénévoles du monde entier qui aident le Jamboree à fonctionner, le village Printemps (village adulte) propose toute une gamme d'activités pour s'assurer que chacun puisse vivre une expérience unique.

L'Expérience EIS est conçue pour tous les bénévoles afin de leur permettre de profiter également du Jamboree. Il s'agit d'un programme éducatif, intéressant et ambitieux basé sur quatre thèmes : Notre Monde, Développement Personnel, Expérience Spirituelle et Nouvelles Compétences. Chaque thème propose ensuite différents modules. L'Expérience est tellement populaire que les EIS doivent s'inscrire deux jours à l'avance !

Les EIS qui participent à deux modules sur deux thèmes différents recevront l'émblème d'argent ou d'or s'ils participent à un troisième module avec leur patrouille... Ne manquez pas les Expériences EIS !

The IST experience is all about enhancing the Jamboree experience for those who volunteer their time running it. It is an educational, interesting and challenging program built on four themes: Our World, Personal Development, Spiritual Experience and New Skills, with different modules offered within each theme.

The experience has been so popular that registration for themes and modules needs to be done two days in advance! Stephen O'Malley from the UK loved his Personal Development experience. Along with the 'Our World' theme, through active debate and discussion, IST's are working towards solutions for how to change the world together!

"It consisted of a tonne of group games which illustrated how different people have different ways of communicating. It really helped to start breaking down language barriers" he said.

Valentina Marino and Ludovica Carini from Italy completed modules in Spiritual Experience and New Skills. "It was great fun, we did a Swedish module on basic language to communicate with Swedish people... and it was great fun to meet new people, which is the important thing" they said.

IST who complete two modules within a different theme will earn a silver emblem badge, or a gold badge for the completion of three. So whether your interests are in meditation, building an international network of friends, or changing the world, head on to the Spring Information Centre to not miss out on an amazing IST experience!

Module activities

Quest. People. Global Development Village. Dream. Earth. The Module Activities have names to spark your imagination, but what do the names actually stand for? And how is it all connected, what do they have in common? Hej Jam! has found out.

article by Wilhelm Tunemyr

The Module Activities are a suite of five separate but inter-linked activities that provide Scouts with the opportunity to learn about themselves, others and the world around them. "When participants have collected all the beads and have finished the activities, they will have explored the physical, intellectual, social, spiritual and emotional side of their personality," says Stephanie McCann of the Module Activity Team. "The different modules focus on some of these areas, complementing each other."

"When planning started, we sat down and asked ourselves, 'what is Simply Scouting, what does it mean?'" says Liza Zeeck Rosenberg, Head of Department. "And we said it's doing things together, it's being outdoors, it's challenging, it's physical and so on. So we made this into five modules with activities within them."

But the Module Activities are not the only programme at the World Scout Jamboree, and it's been an important part of the planning to avoid duplication. "We don't do pioneering, lighting fires, canoeing etc" says Liza. "Those activities you do in your subcamp, on Camp in Camp and so on."

We have had active dialogue to avoid doing the same thing in different modules."

Felix Rehnman, Head of Department, adds that "we also decided that all activities should be available to everyone; we didn't want a few popular activities that only a few could do. And you can do all these activities at home, with your local scouts. After the Jamboree, the material will be available to download." ■

Modules d'activités

"Les Modules d'activités aident les participants à progresser individuellement aussi bien qu'au sein d'un groupe" dit Stephanie McCann de l'équipe du Module Activité.

"Simplement du scoutisme signifie faire des choses ensemble, relever des défis. Nous avons divisé l'activité en cinq modules," raconte Liza Zeeck Rosenberg, en charge du département. "Nous évitons de refaire les mêmes activités qui sont faites dans les sous-camp ou lors du camp dans le camp." Felix Rehnman, à la tête du département, ajoute que les activités sont accessibles à tous et peuvent être refaites chez vous."

Simplement protéger la Terre

« Pluie acide sur le Jamboree », nous crie une des nombreuses personnes sur le chemin traversant la forêt vers le module Terre. C'est un des slogans censés inciter les participants du Jamboree à avoir une réflexion critique sur les problématiques actuelles de notre planète.

article par Carmen Schares

« Souvent, j'oublie les petites choses qui économisent l'énergie » nous confie Quentin Clavel, en ajoutant « moi aussi, je peux encore faire des efforts ». C'est pendant l'atelier sur le thème du vent que ce jeune scout français de Mérignac nous raconte son point de vue sur cette thématique plus qu'actuelle dans le monde entier.

Le module Terre qui est partagé en quatre ateliers (Vent, Eau, Sol et Oxygène) sensibilise les jeunes aux différents enjeux globaux qui peuvent être influencés par l'action de l'homme.

Ainsi l'atelier Eau permet à tous les participants du Jamboree d'observer de façon ludique les impacts de la force de l'eau sur notre environnement. Jean Felder, EIS de Fontainebleau en charge de guider les patrouilles lors de cet atelier, évoque la nécessité d'une répartition équitable des ressources essentielles de notre planète.

Des étudiants universitaires accompagnent les EIS dans l'atelier Oxygène. Au cours de celui-ci les patrouilles débattent sur les effets néfastes provoqués par l'homme et les catastrophes naturelles qui ont eu lieu dans leur région. Chaque type de catastrophe est marquée sur une carte du monde géante par une couleur différente. On peut ainsi distinguer les régions sujets aux inondations, aux canicules ou encore aux tremblements de terre pour n'en citer que quelques uns.

L'activité Terre te permet, sans aucun doute, d'élargir ton horizon dans ce domaine vital et de te rendre plus critique vis-à-vis de l'exploitation des ressources de notre planète.

Simply protecting the Earth

“Jamboree flooded after never ending rain” says one of the IST members promoting the Earth module with a sandwich board. His promotional material for the module explained that it deals with the subjects of Soil, Oxygen, Water and Wind.

Activities wise, flooding was simulated in big half pipes for Scouts who built landscapes comprising of cities, factories and animals. With three buckets of water running through the river bed, animals were swept away and landscapes polluted by blue poisonous liquid running out of destroyed factories! After building a windmill, Quentin Clavel from France realizes that sometimes he could do more to save energy.

There's no doubt that Scouts understand how much important it is to protect our earth and not to waste its resources, but could you know and do more? Find out by visiting the Earth Module before the Jamboree finishes.

هل وصلتكم بعد الى بلدة الشعب في وحدة الأنشطة؟

... بلدة رائعة مليئة بالأشخاص من حولك، اقترب أكثر و انضم إلينا

article by Ra' Ad Ammari

تحتوي بلدة الشعب على القرية الحرفية، و حديقة التأمل، مركز المدينة و منصة المدينة، أيضا هناك العديد من مراكز الاستعلامات إن كان لديك أي سؤال عن وحدة الأنشطة

بلدة الشعب مكان تجد فيه الفرصة للاسترخاء و أخذ نفس عميق، صنع أشياء جميلة وهي خبرة رائعة للجميع لإيجاد السلام الداخلي. رتشي أهنت وشي يي لام من هونج كونج

وقد أخبرتني إيميلي نوردل من السويد التي تعمل هناك أنها بلدة تجد فيها ثقافات جديدة، تجعلك بصحة جيدة وتعطيك السلام للعقل

هناك الكثير من الألعاب والأعمال المشتركة للجميع للتعرف على الثقافات، يمكنك أخذ صورة لنفسك أو مع أصدقائك، بعدها عليك احضار خمسة أشخاص لمعرفة ثقافتك من خلال الصورة من دون التكلم معهم أو اخبارهم عنها أخبرني جوستاف لوفكست وفيرونيكا ساند وسامويل إركسون من السويد عن القرية الحرفية "تستطيع صنع بعض الأشياء يدويا لتأخذها معك للبيت و قد كان هذا جميلاً جداً"

أما ديفيد سنك من الولايات المتحدة الأمريكية فقد استمتع في كل شيء قائلاً "أنا سعيد من فريق الخدمة الموجود في المدينة كل شيء منظم جيداً و في وسط المدينة عادةً هناك شخص يغني و يهتف للجميع كنت سعيداً جداً بذلك و هناك أيضاً منصة المدينة استمتعنا بالأغاني و تعلم الرقص"

و قد قابلت بعض الأصدقاء من لبنان الذين كانوا سعديين بكل شيء مع أشعة الشمس الرائعة التي غطت أرض الجامبوري ذلك ما قاله كل من ايمان قعيق، و نايلة عبود، و نور دندن، و رافع الصمد، و امين دياب و خالد سري الدين: "خيمة سرد القصص من مختلف الثقافات كانت رائعة و أيضاً حديقة التأمل تستطيع الاسترخاء كما تريد لقد استمتعنا حقاً بذلك"

City of People

With a wonderful city full of people around you, have you completed the People module yet?

The city of people contains a craft village, garden of reflection, the city core and the city stage, and there are many information centres for questions about the unit activities.

There are a lot of games and actions for all cultures to learn. One activity allows participants to take a picture of themselves or with a friend, then bringing information about their culture to five people through the image without verbally corresponding with them.

We are waiting for you there, come and join us!

¡Quest, una aventura en el tiempo!

Hasta el momento más de 21.000 scouts han vivido esta espectacular aventura en el tiempo, disfrutando de una gran fiesta divertida, con música y mucha animación. ¡Ven a conocer el mundo de Quest!

artículo por Maria Matos y Billy Souto Maior
foto por André Jörg y Mikko Roininen

Tan pronto como llegábamos a la entrada del subcampo Summer, ya se escuchaba la gente cantando y gritando “¡Quest es lo mejor!”.

Ya en la recepción, los caballeros medievales daban la bienvenida a los participantes, y los dirigían al punto central, donde todos participaban de una ceremonia de apertura llena de música y danza creando una gran fiesta, en un ambiente desinhibido.

El módulo Quest está dividido en 4 actividades que contemplan un viaje en el tiempo, arrancando en el siglo XXI, pasando por el tiempo de las cavernas, los Vikingos, la Edad Medieval y la Conquista. Cada actividad tiene un tiempo promedio de 45 minutos y el objetivo principal es el desarrollo físico e intelectual a través de desafíos, estimulando el espíritu y el sistema de patrulla.

Aquí seguramente vas a encontrar pistas de obstáculos, actividades con sogas, laberintos, escaleras gigantes, castillos medievales y muchos desafíos que buscan la cooperación y unión de toda la patrulla.

No importa la característica o capacidad física, todos son necesarios para cumplir los desafíos propuestos en esta actividad.

Las personas con necesidades físicas especiales también pueden disfrutar del módulo Quest, ya que la creación de esta actividad también fue pensada para ellos.

Según Christy McCann, jefe del módulo Quest la gran experiencia que se lleva de este Jamboree es tener la oportunidad de encontrarse con todos los jóvenes y decirles, “Vamos, den lo mejor de vosotros. Además, podría tener cualquier otro trabajo en el Jamboree, pero tener la oportunidad de conocer a todos los scouts es increíble; ya que ellos son los líderes del futuro y quizás, en el próximo Jamboree, puedan tener la suerte de estar en mi lugar” - completa McCann. ■

Quest, an adventure through time.

Over 21,000 Scouts now have experienced this great journey in time, enjoying a fun party with music and lots of entertainment. Come and try the world of Quest!

“Go, do your best today!” This is how Christy McCann, head of the Quest module activity, invites everyone to start a great day of adventure.

“Quest is the best!” They were the cheers at the beginning of Monday’s open ceremony at the Quest main arena. Lots of music and dance, and a combination of physical activities, mental games and great adventures are waiting for you!

The module is divided into four activities during a trip through time. Starting in the 21st century, passing by the Prehistoric era, the Vikings, the Medieval era and the Conquest; all the activities are full of different energising challenges that help Scouts to use the patrol system to succeed.

Participants Living the Dream

Scouts get a spiritual experience during Jamboree night.

After waiting in a long queue in the middle of the night, Scouts finally get a chance to try the Dream Module. They walk through a forrest trail outside of the Summer sub-camp to get there, all excited to finally get going.

The main idea of the dream track is for Scouts to follow their lives backwards, starting with death and ending with birth. To achieve this, the participants follow a light track through the woods, dealing with several activities along the way.

Hej Jam! got the privilege to follow a patrol of Albanian Scouts through the track. Ernal and Gezim insisted that the track was "A different kind of fun". Indeed, the Dream module is not the kind of activity that keeps you laughing, but fills a different purpose.

Following the track through the silent and dark woods is more than anything else an amazing chance to feel the Swedish nature. More than fun, its a rather spiritual, and if you will, dreamlike experience. The activities in Dream are not focused on physical movement, yet stimulating our minds and imagination.

Dream might not be one of the most physically challenging activities. However, for those who take some time to really reflect over the tasks, and realizing the beautiful scenery of the nature around, the Dream activity will have a great impact on all of their senses.

More than anything else, Dream provides us strong feelings of peace and calm. So live the dream, but do not rush through it. ■

I have a Dream...

Une expérience spirituelle une fois la nuit tombée.

Après une longue attente, les scouts ont traversé la forêt qui borde le village Été, tous excités de participer au module d'activité Dream (le Rêve).

Le chemin du Rêve est une invitation à prendre la vie à reculons, de la vieillesse à la naissance. Ce parcours est matérialisé par un chemin illuminé à travers la forêt sombre et silencieuse : une chance incroyable de découvrir la nature suédoise. C'est une expérience spirituelle semblable à un rêve qui est proposée aux participants : les activités ne sont pas focalisées sur l'aspect physique mais sur la stimulation de l'esprit et de l'imagination.

Pour ceux qui prennent le temps de vraiment réfléchir à leur avenir et qui observent avec attention le magnifique décor de la nature, Dream aura un grand impact sur chacun de leurs sens. A la fin du module Dream, ils ressentiront un sentiment de paix et de calme...

A vous de vivre ce rêve...

Seeing more in Scouting

Young Correspondent Barbara Wachter from Switzerland and Matheus Miranda from Brazil had the honour of interviewing a secret member of the Swedish Royal Family.

article by Linnea Wedelin

As very active journalists throughout the program, they had been picked to do something special. The air almost shivered when they got the exciting news. The royal they were meeting was Carl XVI Gustaf, not only the King of Sweden but also the Honorary Chairman of the World Scout Foundation! After they had found out, there was not much time to prepare! Some last minute preparations like fetching a Scout uniform were done, and when walking towards the Jamboree headquarters the nerves seemed to gather up.

A lot of people were buzzing around the big tent when a car pulled over. Its doors opened and out stepped His Majesty followed by Queen Silvia. When they talked to one of the Camp Chiefs, I whispered to Matheus if he was nervous. "Gosh, a little bit," he answered. "I feel very good, very excited, they look so nice!" Barbara added.

With an encouraging smile from the Queen, some advice about how to sit and a few minutes of waiting, it was finally time. As fellow Scouts, the trio sat down on a bench and started talking, both about Scouting in general as well as the King's own Scouting experience.

15 minutes later the interview was over, and the two Correspondents were satisfied. "This finished an absolutely amazing experience" Barbara said. They both thought it was impressive that the conversation was relaxed and easy going even though they were talking to a King, and the fact that they were all Scouts was an important factor. "He sees more in Scouting than knots. He believes that scouts can change something!" Barbara said and smiled. ■

Видя Подробнее в Скаутинг

Барбара Вочер из Швейцарии и Матеус Миранда из Бразилии участвуют в программе Молодые Корреспонденты, они просят участников - рассказать о Джамбори. 31-го августа им выпала честь взять интервью у Карла Густава XVI, который не только Король Швеции, но и Председатель Всемирного Скаутского Фонда!

До начала интервью Корреспонденты сильно волновались, но после 15 минут разговора с Королем, они были поражены насколько легко прошло интервью. "Он видит в Скаутинге не только узлы. Он верит, что Скаутинг может что то изменить!" улыбнувшись сказала Барбара.

Viendo más cosas en el Escultismo

Barbara Wachter de Suiza y Matheus Miranda de Brasil forman parte del programa de Jóvenes Corresponsales que motiva a los participantes a escribir sus historias sobre el Jamboree. El 31 de agosto ellos tuvieron el gran honor de entrevistar a Carlos XVI Gustavo, quien no sólo es Rey de Suecia sino ¡un miembro honorario de la Fundación Scout Mundial!

Antes de la entrevista, parecían estar bastante nerviosos, pero después de hablar 15 minutos con el Rey, estaban sorprendidos de lo bien que había ido. "Él ve más cosas en el Escultismo, que sólo nudos. ¡Cree que los scouts pueden cambiar algo!", dijo Barbara y sonrió.

Voir plus loin dans le Scoutisme

La Jeune Correspondante suisse Barbara Wachter et le Jeune Correspondant brésilien Matheus Miranda ont eu l'honneur d'interviewer un membre de la famille royale suédoise dont l'identité est gardée secrète.

En tant que journalistes très actifs pendant le programme, ils ont été choisis pour une mission spéciale. La personnalité Royale qu'ils ont rencontré est Carl XVI Gustaf, non seulement le roi de Suède mais aussi le Président d'Honneur de la Fondation Mondiale du Scoutisme! Après avoir appris cette nouvelle, il ne leur restait plus beaucoup de temps pour la préparation! Après quelques préparatifs de dernière minute comme de trouver un uniforme Scout, le stress commença à monter.

Beaucoup de gens circulaient autour de la grande tente, avant qu'une voiture n'arrive. La porte s'ouvrit, laissant voir Sa Majesté suivie de la Reine Silvia. Quand ils parlaient à l'un des Chefs de Camp, je demandai à Matheus s'il était nerveux. "Bof, sans plus." répondit-il. J'ajoutai alors : "Je me sens très bien, très excitée, ils ont l'air si beaux!"

Après un sourire encourageant de la Reine, quelques conseils sur la bonne façon de se tenir et quelques minutes d'attente, ce fut finalement à nous d'agir. Comme des compagnons Scouts, le trio s'assit sur un banc et commença à parler du Scoutisme en général mais aussi du passé Scout du Roi.

15 minutes plus tard, l'interview était finie et les deux correspondants satisfaits. "C'est une expérience formidable qui se finit." dit Barbara. Tous deux étaient étonnés de voir à quel point la conversation était relâchée et simple alors même qu'ils parlaient à un roi, et le fait qu'ils étaient tous Scouts était un facteur important. "Il voit bien plus que des nœuds dans le Scoutisme, il croit que les Scouts peuvent changer les choses!" dit Barbara en souriant. ■

National Days

Kenneth Gordon from Jamaica has at least two good reasons to celebrate. Firstly, on Monday, the people of Jamaica celebrated their 49th year of independence. His second reason to celebrate was for his seventeenth birthday last Sunday!

People in Jamaica celebrate their independence in various ways. There are marches and parades, and Scouts and Guides join other important Jamaican figures at a reception at King's House. One of those dignitaries is known to many; Usain Bolt, one of the fastest men on earth!

One interesting custom of Jamaica is the masquerade. "People put on huge heads of the Jamaican national heroes and have a parade. There are six heroes and one heroine in Jamaica, and we all celebrate them for helping us to gain our independence" Kenneth said. The Jamboree was a great opportunity to celebrate!

Kenneth Gordon and Carlton Cousins from Jamaica celebrated their independence day on 1st August.

article by Alex Groat

This first of August was a special day for the Swiss contingent. In memory of the forming of Switzerland a gathering at the main stage was held.

"It's going to be nice to see the whole Swiss contingent on one spot, to see how many there really are," said Swiss contingent member Severin.

And there were many! The huge crowd waving Swiss flags even attracted people from other countries to join the fun, like Participant Gorgi from Rumania, who told us: "I did not know what was going on - but it seemed fun and I joined in!"

The show on stage featured Wilhelm Tell, Heidi and a guest appearance by Swedish Pippi longstockings. When everything was done the Swiss returned to their respective subcamps singing their national anthem.

Les scouts du Bénin fêtent l'anniversaire de leur indépendance

article by Wilhelm Tunemyr

Le Bénin fête l'anniversaire de l'Indépendance vis-à-vis de la France, obtenue le 1er août 1960. Audrin et Djihane le racontent à Hej Jam!, peu après leur passage sur Radio Jamboree : « C'est un jour férié avec des parades, le Président accueille une grande fête et nous nous rassemblons en famille. »

Interrogés sur ce qu'ils pensent du Jamboree, les Béninois sont enthousiastes. Audrin est très heureux : « Nous avons été au GDV, à Earth et à Dream, et aujourd'hui (ndlr : 1er août), nous allons à Quest ». « Tout se passe très bien » ajoute Djiane.

Le Scoutisme béninois compte plus de 5 000 scouts et guides, et met un fort accent sur les projets communautaires. Le quartier général du contingent, Avenue du Temps, propose entre autres choses une exposition d'œuvres typiques du pays.

Around the World in 80 Strides

A walk around the Main Square offers the opportunity to visit a number of Contingent Pavilions, which gives insight into Scouting and the traditional activities from various countries.

The Indian pavilion, a popular tent due to Henna hand painting, has a display of their Scouting History, events and achievements. This is accompanied by a wide variation of traditional items from the four main regions of India. In contrast the UK pavilion is a hive of people engaging in 'crazy golf', watching a unit video and eating 'stick of rock'.

Thailand is a serene and peaceful tent where shoulder massages are offered and opportunities to collect a stamp or all Thai contingent badges. Trinidad and Tobago on the other hand have an interesting display of traditional carnival clothing. This is accompanied by a video of all the sights and sounds of the carnival.

Columbia offers cups of freshly brewed Colombian coffee whilst providing national Jamboree information and native Colombian games, while the Israeli tent offers participants a different view (through a periscope), as well as name translation into Hebrew. To learn about the curious legend of the cockerel, visit the Portuguese and paint your own!

Some contingents have a new and exciting traditional activity or food each day, so be sure to return and try them all. If you require information on the next two World Scout Jamborees, be sure to visit the Japanese and American tents. If you'll be older and planning on the 2013 World Rover Moot visit Canada instead! Will we see you there? ■

times two!*

article by Linnea Wedelin and Emma Ekelund Trelde

Camp was hot. Inside the tents, it was even hotter. People were sweating. Hej Jam! took on an almost impossible assignment; testing the Finnish sauna. Were we crazy?

On one of the hottest days of the Jamboree, we were off to the Finnish Sauna in Spring Town. Since we are adults, we weren't allowed in the participant Sauna in Autumn, however there are no differences between the two. A sauna is typically Finnish. In a closed room, you heat up stones, throw water on them and enjoy sweating like a pig in the water steam! That was literally what it was like. We managed to endure the first and second round, but the third time they threw water on the stones, we had reached our limit. Towards the showers we went!

A hot and clean experience!

No Kangaroos in Australia!

article by Megan Donoghue

The 'No Kangaroo's in Austria' has been an international running gig for some time now. On Monday however, this was far from the truth!

A tradition which began in 2003 at the 20th World Jamboree in Thailand, and continued in 2007 in England, the Australian and Austrian contingents have formed a cultural exchange program. Australian Kangaroos 'Roo Boy' and 'Skippy' were sent to live with the Austrian Contingent for a day, and 'Fair Veronica', the red prize Austrian Cow went on holiday to the Australian beach!

Austrian Contingent leader Stefan Gärtner said Austria were excited to send Fair Veronica on a "one day holiday to Australia, and to extend and invite for the Kangaroo's to come to Austria."

Australian Contingent leader Phil Harrison said "We are very pleased that Skippy and Roo Boy get the opportunity to have a cultural exchange to Austria. Today there are no Kangaroo's in Australia!" ■

A Glimpse of the World in Rinkaby

article by Lucas Ihrén and Judelio Yap

Some of us traveled from far away, and some others came from a short distance. Yet within the camp site, you can travel the world and learn one's culture within minutes. Hej Jam! has visited the contingents at the World Scout Centre.

Most contingents have their own tent and there are contingent management support team members ready to welcome curious Scouts, offering interactive information about their respective countries.

If you visit the tent of Mexico, for example, you can snap a picture wearing the famous Sombreros or try out the Balero (a small constructive toy with a ball and a cup).

For those who like sports, the Italian tent offers table soccer. In addition, the Canadian tent, internationally recognised for their ice hockey, gives participants the chance to experience table hockey. Occasionally, the Canadians also arrange proper hockey competitions as well.

Less-sporty visitors are welcomed to the Saudi Arabian tent to a traditional Arabian Kheima. Relaxation and cups of Arabian coffee! Denmark also provides a comfy environment, which includes a quiet lounge with bean bag chairs. While we have all heard of Lego, the Danes have invented yet another jewel for creating amazing constructions. Try it out!

These are but some of the exhibitions waiting for you to discover. So get down to the World Scout Centre and experience what the world has to offer! ■

Un aperçu du monde à Rinkaby

Hej Jam! fait le tour du monde sans quitter le site du Jamboree !

Certains scouts sont venus de très loin, d'autres ont parcouru une courte distance avant d'arriver à Rinkaby. Au sein du camp, on peut voyager à travers le monde et découvrir une nouvelle culture en quelques minutes. Hej Jam! a rencontré les contingents sur l'Avenue du Temps.

La plupart des contingents ont leur propre tente. On y trouve les membres d'équipe, qui accueillent les visiteurs et échangent avec eux sur leur pays. Prenons au hasard la tente du Mexique : on peut se faire photographier avec sur la tête le célèbre sombrero. On peut aussi essayer le balero, un petit jouet constitué d'un verre et d'une balle.

Pour ceux qui aiment le sport, un baby-foot est installé devant la tente italienne. Un peu plus loin, la tente canadienne propose un autre sport miniature : hockey de table. De temps en temps, les Canadiens organisent de vraies compétitions de hockey.

Ceux qui goûtent moins aux compétitions sportives sont invités dans la tente saoudienne, où les attend un Kheima arabe traditionnel. Ici, c'est repos et tasse de café arabe. Le confort, on le trouve également dans la tente danoise, un salon silencieux avec des fauteuils originaux. Vous y découvrirez que les Lego ne sont pas les seuls jeux de constructions inventés par les Danois. A essayer d'urgence !

Bien d'autres tentes attendent qu'on passe leur porte. Alors venez et revenez avenue du Temps, découvrir toutes les cultures que le monde peut offrir !

Cash? No thanks!

A Jamboree without cash, is that even possible? The organizers behind 22nd World Scout Jamboree thought so, and that's why we're all trying to make the fields of Rinkaby a place without physical money.

Paying with cards has many advantages. The risk of theft is reduced, as well as losing your money (in other ways than spending it on ice cream that is). Instead of exchanging currencies, you can choose between paying with Visa, Visa Electron, MasterCard, Maestro, JCB and American Express, or with the Jamboree's very own paying card; Event Card!

The Event Card is very smart, and everyone has one of their own. It works not only as an ID, but also a form of payment! After loading it at the Jamboree bank or over Internet, you can pay in a quick way without having to use a pin-code or actual cash. At the same time you, or for example your parents, can check up on how much money you have spent during your time at the Jamboree. And since you're supposed to wear your ID-badge at all times there's not a big risk that you will lack payment when you feel that urge for something. Good, right?

But what to do if you lose your card? Johan Manner, Head of Info Center Karlstad/Vimmerby, knows. "You go to any of the Info Centers on the Jamboree, and tell them that you've lost it," he says. "If you are accompanied by anyone that can confirm that you are you, for example a leader or a friend, we will block the card immediately."

If not, you can go get someone, or show them a photo ID. When the card is blocked, no one can use your money, and you will get a new one in a while. At the Info Centres you can also check how much money is left at the Card, so don't go to the bank to do that!

Of course there are ATM services offered by the Jamboree sponsor Sparbanken 1826 at Four Seasons Square if necessary, but for a faster, safer and easier Jamboree; try practising shopping the Cash free way! ■

Efectivo: ¡no gracias!

Un Jamboree sin efectivo, ¿es posible? Los organizadores del 22º Jamboree Scout Mundial así pensaron, y por esta razón estamos intentando hacer de los campos de Rinkaby un lugar sin dinero en efectivo. En el Jamboree, puedes pagar con Visa, Visa Electron, MasterCard, Maestro, JCB y American Express, o con la tarjeta de pago del Jamboree, la Event Card, en la mayoría de las tiendas. Si pierdes la Event Card, ¡dirígete a uno de los centros de información y recibirás ayuda! También podrás echarle un vistazo a tu saldo.

De la monnaie ? Non merci !

Un Jamboree sans monnaie, mission impossible ? Les organisateurs du 22e Jamboree Scout Mondial pensent le contraire, c'est pourquoi nous essayons tous de faire des champs de Rinkaby un lieu sans monnaie physique. Au Jamboree, on peut payer par Visa, Visa Electron, MasterCard, Maestro, JCB et American Express, ou avec sa propre carte d'identification du Jamboree dans la plupart des boutiques. Si vous perdez votre carte d'identification, allez au Centre d'Information, les EIS vous y aideront ! Là-bas, vous pouvez aussi consulter le montant disponible sur votre carte.

Six Young Purple Scarves

Maybe you have noticed scouts walking around with purple scarves with the World Organisation of the Scout Movement (WOSM) emblem at the back. The purple scarves are used by Scouts who are serving WOSM as professionals or volunteers.

Six of these scarves are being worn by the six Youth Advisors to the World Scout Committee who make up the board of World Scouting; all elected at the World Scout Youth Forum (WSYF). The Youth Advisors themselves all come from different backgrounds: Felipe from Brazil, Sarah-Rita from Lebanon, Doina from Moldova, Esben from Denmark, Vemund from Norway and Muath from Jordan, all who represent Scouts on a world scale.

The Youth Advisors, besides contributing to the workgroups of the World Scout Committee, are responsible for the content of the next WSYF, which will be held in Slovenia in 2014.

The Forum is a unique opportunity for young Scouts to discuss topics related to Scouting, share ideas and initiatives, plan on future projects and the future of the world. At the end of the Forum, young representatives are implementing their thoughts and ideas in recommendations, which are later presented at the World Scout Conference.

“We are here to let the voice of young people be heard in World Scouting, a youth movement that has the ability to Change the World, as it says in the Jamboree song you’ve been singing all together:

“If it’s a change in you, then the world is changing too “ Says Sarah-Rita Kattan, Youth Advisor to the World Scout Committee, from Lebanon.

If you see them during the Jamboree – stop them and ask them what they are doing, especially if you have any inspiring thoughts about World Scouting you wish to share with them. They are your representatives, remember! ■

Six jeunes foulards violets

Vous avez peut-être remarqué des scouts se promenant avec les foulards violets portant l’insigne de l’Organisation Mondiale du Mouvement Scout (OMMS) dans le dos. Ces foulards violets sont ceux des scouts qui travaillent à l’OMMS en tant que permanents ou bénévoles.

Six de ces foulards sont portés par les Jeunes Conseillers au Comité Mondial du Scoutisme, qui font partie du bureau du Scoutisme Mondial. Tous ont été élus au Forum des Jeunes du Scoutisme Mondial (FJSM) pour représenter les scouts du monde entier. En plus de participer aux groupes de travail du Comité Mondial du Scoutisme les Jeunes Conseillers sont responsables du contenu du prochain (FJSM) qui se tiendra en Slovénie en 2014.

Le Forum est une chance unique pour des jeunes scouts de discuter de sujets liés au scoutisme, d’échanger des idées et des initiatives, de travailler sur des projets futurs ou sur l’avenir du monde. À la fin du Forum, les jeunes représentants concrétisent leurs réflexions et leurs idées par des recommandations, qui sont par la suite présentées à la Conférence Mondiale du Scoutisme.

Si vous les voyez pendant le Jamboree, arrêtez-les et demandez-leur ce qu’ils font, spécialement si vous avez des idées innovantes sur le scoutisme mondial que vous souhaitez partager avec eux ! N’oubliez pas, ils vous représentent!

Schwarzenegger museum opens in Austria

Marking his 64th birthday, Arnold Schwarzenegger's childhood home in Thal, Austria, has opened as a museum.

On display at the museum are his childhood bed, Mr Universe trophies and body building photographs, a motorbike from one of the Terminator films, some of his first dumb-bells, and a copy of the desk he used as governor of California.

Schwarzenegger ouvre un musée en Autriche

Pour célébrer son 64^{ème} anniversaire, la maison d'enfance d'Arnold Schwarzenegger, à Thal en Autriche, a été convertie en musée.

Le musée expose, entre autres, le lit qu'il utilisait durant son enfance, ses trophées de M. Univers et des photos de culturisme, une moto d'un des films de Terminator, quelques-unes de ses premières haltères et une réplique du bureau qu'il utilisait en tant que gouverneur de la Californie.

Le Festival du film de Sarajevo honore Angelina Jolie

Angelina Jolie a reçu le prix spécial du Coeur d'Honneur de Sarajevo pour ses talents d'actrice, de directrice et son "engagement actif au sein des complexités du vrai monde".

Jolie, qui s'est présentée au 17^{ème} Festival du film de Sarajevo avec son partenaire Brad Pitt, a passé beaucoup de temps en Bosnie au cours de la dernière année en tant qu'ambassadrice itinérante pour l'agence des réfugiés des Nations Unies.

Elle a dit qu'elle était "très honorée d'être ici".

Sarajevo Film Festival honours Angelina Jolie

Angelina Jolie has received the honorary Heart of Sarajevo award for her acting, directing and "active engagement in the complexities of the real world."

Jolie, who attended the 17th Sarajevo Film Festival with partner Brad Pitt, has spent much time in Bosnia over the last year as a goodwill ambassador for the United Nations' refugee agency.

She said she was "so honoured to be here".

Ollanta Humala a été élu nouveau président du Pérou

Avec la promesse d'éliminer la pauvreté et la désinsertion sociale, l'ex-officier de l'armée Ollanta Humala a été élu nouveau président du Pérou.

Son approche tend vers la gauche et, dans son premier discours en tant que président, il a promis de garder l'économie de marché et les politiques d'échange intactes, d'augmenter le salaire minimum et d'établir une pension minimale pour tous les Péruviens de 65 ans et plus.

"Nous voulons que le terme 'exclusion sociale' disparaisse de notre vocabulaire et de nos vies pour toujours," a dit le président Humala.

Ollanta Humala Sworn in as Peru's new President

With a vow to eliminate poverty and social exclusion, former army officer Ollanta Humala has been sworn in as Peru's new president.

Taking on a moderate left approach, his first address as president promised to keep existing free-market economic and trade policies intact, to raise the minimum wage, and to ensure a minimum pension for all Peruvians over 65.

"We want the term 'social exclusion' to disappear from our language and lives forever" President Humala said.

Creative T's!

The Spring information tent has issued all IST members a challenge: they have extra 5XL Jamboree shirts and are giving away prizes for whoever can be the most creative with them! The idea sprung recently when an IST member was sent from the medical centre to find crutches. Crutches were fashioned from wood, and the excess of extra shirts were used as padding... Creative huh?! Already, one contingent has managed to fix six people in one shirt. So how creative can you be?

German Gnome Hunt

The German contingent have hidden garden gnomes all over the Jamboree site!! Germany has invited everyone to hunt for their gnomes for fantastic prizes (30 cm white wooden gnome replica's and badges). Head to the German Head Quarters (open 10am - 8pm) for instructions, and also to claim your prize once you have the location of a gnome. While there why not also print a German gnome on your T-shirt? Printing available from 4-6pm each day.

Open Invite

Rabbi Shmuly and Mendy welcome all Scouts on Friday 5th at 19.00 to the FaB-zone, Synagogue tent for the Jamboree's main Jewish service. All Jewish Scouts on the Jamboree site will be gathering afterwards to share a meal; everybody is invited to attend to experience the service. Visit JamboJew on Facebook for more information.

Swedish words:

article by Linnea Wedelin

Lagom

The word Lagom is not much, not little, but just in the middle. It is when you get just enough food on your plate, or a sleeping bag that is just warm enough. It is never perfect or brilliant, but when you have a lagom amount of anything you are never lacking. The only problem is that lagom is different to different people, of course.

Sweden is a very lagom country. If you are more than lagom at anything, do not tell anyone... ■

Le mot suédois du jour

Le sens de Lagom est à chercher entre beaucoup et un peu, exactement entre les deux (on pourrait traduire lagom par modéré-ment). Quand il y a juste assez à manger dans l'assiette, quand la température de votre sac de couchage est parfaite, c'est à lagom. Le seul problème, c'est que chaque personne a sa propre définition de lagom.

La Suède est un pays très lagom. Et si vous êtes meilleur que lagom à quelque chose, n'en parlez à personne... Mettez la gomme sur le Jamboree !
